Perth® Glider

The Perth glider both rocks and swivels 360 degrees, offering a greater range of motion to help patients relax throughout the healing process. You can relax too, because its excellent value and long-term reliability make this glider a natural choice.

Hardwood arms add warmth and strength, while unlimited upholstery options allow the glider to fit any aesthetic requirements. An optional moisture barrier further protects your investment.

Its structural steel frame offers performance and reliability, and the glider's tubular metal ring ensures stability in all positions. The ball-bearing mechanism provides smooth, easy movement.

Designed by Daniel Cramer.

Healing in motion.

The Perth glider blends dynamic motion with therapeutic comfort. Whether it's exercise by gentle rocking or the benefits of enhanced circulation, the glider supports the motions that speed recovery.

The Perth glider swivels 360 degrees and can rock gently back and forth while the patient's feet rest comfortably on the floor.

Designed for both comfort and value, the seat and back cushions are removable and field recoverable, allowing for easy replacement within minutes.

Wood or poly (shown) arm caps enhance design possibilities and durability.
