Atwell™

Collection

Haworth® Health Environments

The day is filled with moments—sometimes hours—of waiting. In a world where people are short on time, they require agile waiting spaces that fuel their need for comfort, convenience, and connection.

How We Wait

The Atwell collection of guest chairs, lounge seating, and tables puts people at ease, no matter where they wait. Its organic wood-framed shapes, comfortable seating, and array of warm materials evoke a residential atmosphere to create inviting spaces.

With durable, cleanable solutions, Atwell stands up in any public waiting area, including corporate social settings, higher education common spaces, and hospitality environments.

Linger, relax, dream

Imagine

The lightscale, contemporary design of the Atwell collection helps create attractive interiors and nurturing settings. Modularity and ease of reconfiguration provide a wide range of application choices and flexibility in space planning to enrich the user experience.

Supported by a space that suits your needs, your mind surrenders to its imagination.

Unwind, contemplate, breathe

Reflect

The trapezoidal seat back shape and tandem configurations of Atwell seating create physical boundaries and a sense of personal space. Control the degree of exposure to cultivate a calm, serene setting that offers individual or group privacy.

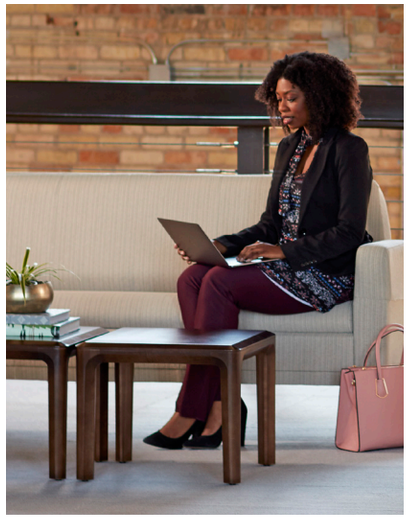
Soothed by comfortable furnishings and warm materials, you're free to reflect.

Gather, meet, link

Connect

Coordinating occasional tables provide small worksurfaces for people as they wait, whether working alone or gathering in groups. Access to power for charging mobile devices helps keep them connected to their work, friends, and family.

Surrounded by your network—either face-to-face or virtually—you maintain connection.



Design and Construction

Atwell offers a broad vocabulary to create a wide variety of applications. These elements can also be combined with other Haworth products to expand its use.

Products are available in standard finishes, as well as healthcare compliant finishes to meet the rigorous requirements of healthcare environments.
